A Message From Mr McLugash

I am writing this on the way back from the year 5/6 residential, having had a brilliant time with Hawks class.

The children have pushed themselves: whether that was overcoming their fear of open water, or pushing themselves by jumping off the top of the high ropes tower on the Power Fan - every one of them has achieved something to be proud of this trip. A big thank you to the staff who made the trip possible, particularly the ones that spent two nights away from their families.

I look forward to welcoming families to parents' evenings w/c 12th October. This is a great time to see how your child has been settling in, what can be done to support them further and to discuss pupil profiles for those children that have them. We will be putting on refreshments again, so do come in for a cuppa!

They'll be a link to complete a new parent survey on this edition of the newsletter. Your feedback is really important to me, so I encourage you to take the time to complete it

You Said... We did...

Following on from last terms feedback, a new assessment timeline was shared with families and published on the website, outlining assessments and progress reporting.

Our recent renovations and improvements include a new library, a new music room, fence and railing painting, and plans are now in action for a new intervention room/year 6 space.

Communication was strengthened through a parent feedback questions, whilst staff on the gate and parking reminders helped improve safety at drop-off and pick-up times.

Rise
Flourish & Succeed

On Friday 16th October, our classroom support staff will be attending a range of professional development workshops designed to refresh and enhance their knowledge and skills. These sessions will cover areas such as Mastering Number, Lego Therapy, and other valuable interventions. The training will enable staff to further develop their expertise and apply new learning and strategies within the classroom, helping to support and improve outcomes for all pupils.

School Communication

What and where to expect messages from school

We know clear communication is important, and that information can come from several places. To help, we've created a communication guide so parents know where to find key messages. Most day-to-day updates will be shared via Class Dojo.

School will send out the following communications via
Class Dojo:

- Day to day messaging and information
- Class newsletters
- Parents' evening information
- Event reminders
- Celebration worship invitations

School will send out the following communications via
Arbor In-App Messaging:

School will send out the following communications
via email:
